

We sincerely regret making a change, but the Young People and Chronic Illness book is out of print and as of Friday, July 17, is no longer available at Amazon.com. For that reason, we are deleting that book from the 2009-10 Medical Reading list and will be substituting the book, Dark Remedy.

The 2009-10 books will be:

- Better by Atul Gawande
- Final Exam by Pauline W. Chen
- Gifted Hands by Dr. Ben Carson
- Dark Remedy: The Impact of Thalidomide and Its Revival as a Vital Medicine by Trent Stephens and Rock Brynner
- The Last Lecture by Randy Pausch

If you purchased Young People and Chronic Illness and wish to be reimbursed by National HOSA, please send us the book and a receipt dated prior to July 25, along with complete information on who should receive the reimbursement check and a mailing address, and we will gladly reimburse you. Send your request to National HOSA, 6021 Morriss Rd, Suite 111, Flower Mound, TX 75028.
